

Astrological Compatibility

by Petra du Preez

Astrologically, each individual is represented by a chart of the planets and houses at the moment of his birth. By comparing and contrasting the interrelationships of two separate charts, the astrologer can reveal the many ways and many levels that two people relate to each other. This is the astrological art of synastry as it has been practised for several thousand years.

How you approach relationships

You're a real smoothie, refined and ever so facile when it comes to handling other people -- a diplomat. And yet -- despite all of this apparent calm -- you like your partners anything but cool. You can't resist impulsive and action-oriented people -- the more daring, the better. You bring out the recklessness in those you love, and you love it. Although at first meeting one might never suspect this, you love to walk on the wild side.

Relationships tend to be hot and heavy. You are drawn to partners who are aggressive, assertive, and very emotional. Independence and adventure are things you value in others. You tend to depend on your partners to get you motivated and keep you moving. You need someone who is emotionally stimulating.

Strengths in your relationships

You are, from time to time, really inspired to the point of moving others with your enthusiasm. You exercise an almost hypnotic quality over those who listen in when your imagination takes over. You're never afraid to take the plunge when matters of idealism or imagination come to the fore. You feel and experience the unity of life -- that we are all in some way, one. Others sense this about you.

A passionate one. You love it when a crisis emerges and threatens to shatter the normal routine, because you yearn for a chance to undergo really profound changes. You're like the survivalists who wish the world would stop pretending and get down to the nitty-gritty. Fiercely loyal, you would rather see a relationship through hell and high water than abandon it. You delight in emotional confrontation, intense conversations, and secrets of all kinds.

You have a fantastic imagination and are somehow tuned into what we all dream of at the deepest levels. The dream worlds, the more eternal thoughts of mankind, come easily for you, and you would be a convincing speaker. The way you talk is very moving to others. You are able to put into words the sense of unity that we all know exists in the world, but can't always keep in mind. You could be a fine poet or musician. You have an uncanny sense of justice, coupled with an innate ability to interpret the law, whether man-made or natural. This may manifest through your showing others the way through, or beyond, the problems in their lives. A practical sense of how to manipulate the opportunities that appear in life. Just plain luck!

Very sensitive areas of conversation that might intimidate most (taboo subjects, etc.) don't bother you at all. You always persevere and keep right on investigating. You are expert at getting straight to the heart of things, and would make a super sleuth, or researcher. The deeper a secret is buried, the more likely it is that you will turn it up. And when it comes to money, sex, and other highly charged issues, pity anyone who tries to manipulate you. That's your bailiwick, and there are very few who can stand to argue with you.

A born lover. You feel right at home with your emotions, and others can't help but remark at your bright, cheery attitude. People like to be around you because you are very expressive and always quick to reveal when you like someone or something. You seldom hide what you are feeling. A love relationship is a real necessity for you and you seldom are without one. You are at home with your sexuality.

Challenges in your relationships

You are torn between the impulse to stand on your own feet, and a need to be cared for and nurtured. Your independent streak may be ashamed of the need on your part for love and affection. It's a no-win situation. This could also be reinforced by a mother and father who may have worked at cross-purposes. The resulting tension will have to be dealt with gradually and methodically.

Your relationship with Hillary Clinton

The two of you may end up working with the public on some health- or service-related project. That may even be how you met. Hillary personifies, and brings to your attention, concerns that you have known about for a long time but perhaps never acted upon. Things like diet, smoking, exercise, preventative medicine...anything that exemplifies a caring attitude. She is very supportive, and when you are with her it seems that all these endless details are easy and even fun to care for.

Your meeting Hillary was exciting and action oriented. In many ways, you are two of a kind. Chances are that you identified with her at once. After all, she is very much like yourself -- like looking in a mirror. Just the person to draw you out of yourself and get you doing things. As corny as this sounds, the world has really been more responsive to you since you met Hillary.

She becomes very articulate when it comes to matters concerning your finances, resources, and possessions in general. You feel that she truly is concerned with what is best and most productive for you. Here is someone you can really talk to about subjects that most might find dull and unexciting. You find her suggestions to the point and almost always productive. You might like to take her on as a business partner just for her financial insight.

She feels that you are special and seeks to encourage you. You both share a sense of value and worth, and she probably appreciates your position in life and possibly your resources. She will want to give anything she can to help you, and this could take the form of gifts, monetary support, etc. She knows the value of money and will always seek to strengthen and multiply any resources you may have. There is a sense of shared values.

She tends to be gung-ho when it comes to community affairs and group projects, a real driving wheel. She loves to bring friends together and get everyone motivated. She manages to get you involved in all kinds of group-related affairs that you might not otherwise try. She may sometimes drive everyone a little mad with her ambition and idealism. She has the best intentions in the world.

There is no doubt that she is a "luck sack". Through her, many opportunities are possible, especially relating to your financial position and resources in general. Hillary is a natural guide for you and can help you make the most out of what you have -- multiply it many times over. She appreciates what you have going for you and has good ideas aimed at ensuring you a secure response from the world. She may come bearing gifts.

Whatever this relationship may or may not be, it probably is not a social triumph. Hillary may tend to be a damper when it comes to get-togethers. Your friends may not like her, or she may be critical of the goals of a particular group. Any groups she might approve of would have very strict morals and ethics. She may simply not like to get together in a group.

Hillary could be a teacher for you -- sort of a life teacher or guide. Not what you would call a tranquil relationship, it may be subject to fits and starts. When you are with her, you may experience real insight into the nature of life. She has unusual and possibly quite radical views of religion. Her approach is what is so different. It is possible that through her you discovered an entirely new way of looking at your life and the world. It's on again, off again.

She is very dynamic, and you probably met her in a group of friends or at a community function. She may instantly set about forming a new group of friends for you to hang around with, or she may advise you on which groups and projects are really worthwhile. Hillary will strip away a lot of needless social niceties. Through her you may be exposed to a more radical form of politics or group goal than heretofore. She is very serious about all of this.

Strengths in your relationship with Hillary Clinton

You both have an understanding that she is a little different and likes her independence. This is not a problem. She brings some excitement and adventure to your life, and may be restless and on the go. She may introduce you to unusual friends and situations.

You tend to love her passionate nature. She knows this, and that you appreciate her need for self-analysis and confrontation. Your relationship may be very intense, but always exciting. Things are seldom dull.

You somehow are able to put Hillary's dreams and ideals into words. She finds you very imaginative, even eloquent, and may love poetry and music that you write. There is a basic sense of shared ideals, and you have long dreamy conversations.

This could be a real working relationship. Hillary has an organizing effect on you, and brings discipline and good sense to any project in which the two of you may engage. Although somewhat cool and conservative, this has every sign of being a very durable relationship.

Challenges in your relationship with Hillary Clinton

From time to time there may be some hard feelings and harsh words between you. You may not feel like talking, or find that you can't support a lot of what she is saying. She may not be able to understand how you feel, and resents your attitude.

You may find her somewhat repressive of your feelings. She manages to put a damper on you every time you get to feeling good and comfortable. There is no way you will support this side of her, and this could lead to a real standoff.

She may not appreciate your feelings and emotions, and may not like your moods. You may tend to ignore her values and ideals and take them too lightly. She senses that you may not support her sense of values. There could be a kind of cold war going on.

She may prefer to have her own career and take a course that runs counter to your own. Her advice may not always be in your best interests. There may be arguments, with you being painted as the authority figure. She may feel that you hold her back from finding her own way.

She may not always think highly of you and is not afraid to let you know when this is the case. You may sometimes tend to discount what she says and squelch communication. You don't always like what she thinks.

There may be some problems in communication. You may find it difficult to talk with Hillary, or attempts at communication end up in a standstill. Her attitude and manner may leave you feeling frustrated, unable to communicate.

The fact that you find it difficult to put up with her need for confrontation and self-analysis may cause resentment. Your lack of support in this area may lead to explosive times and hurt feelings. You are tired of the tension and don't feel like putting your emotions through one more transformation.

Heavy feelings and emotional drama will be part of this relationship. You may feel that she refuses to support your life ambitions. You may find yourself hurting her feelings again and again. A stormy marriage.

Your relationship with Monica Lewinsky

There is almost a sense of mystery about your relationship with Monica. You cannot hide things from her, so there are no formalities when you are around her. You feel exposed. The whole thing has a magnetic sexual quality to it which both of you support. You tend to feed on this arrangement, with the result that the experience is strengthening and supportive. Aside from this you may be involved in some kind of financial partnership.

Monica may have been attracted to you because of the friends and acquaintances you have. She values shared goals and common ties, in particular if they have some kind of moral or humanitarian purpose. You may work and live together as part of a project or community. She has a sense of your hopes and dreams, and loves you for them. She finds your friends uplifting and worthwhile.

She can be a real go-getter when it comes to the social scene -- always on the move. This may have the effect of moving you to get out and be sociable. The two of you could do a lot together. It is possible that your friends may see her as just a little pushy or too game. Relations may take on an emotional tone that could be unneeded or unwelcome. She may tend to be the life of the party.

You are going to have to put your money where your mouth is when it comes to matters of truth or morality, for Monica will tolerate nothing but a straight gate. You will tow the line. She could be a great help to you in separating the wheat from the chaff.

Never dull, you find Monica's offbeat ways and independent manner exciting. There is always a sense of the unusual or unexpected when you are together. She may lead you off the beaten path, introducing you to new and unconventional people and places. There is a bohemian flavor to this relationship.

I am sure both of you wax poetic when you're together. Your imagination is in top form and you seem to rise to the occasion and find just the right words. There is an almost dreamy or unworldly quality about your communications. You get carried away very easily and may sometimes wonder if there is a tendency for you each to delude the other. Who cares? It's just like in the movies!
